cratic administration. This means that he would attempt to repeal those laws which have been made under it. He asked the audience to decide, had they been in Congress, whether or not they would have voted against the good roads law, the rural credit law, the inheritance tax and similar laws and to propose repealed Chamberlain suggested that the work of President Wilson should stand. The election of Hughes and a Republican Congress, he asserted, would mean the repeal of all this beneficial legislation.

Allen Swan Speaks.

A Democratic meeting was held at Grady Saturday afternoon at which a good crowd was in attendance. Allen K. Swan, assistant county attorney of this county, was the speaker of the day and he took the position that the people of the United States are deeply indebted to Woodrow Wilson and the Democratic administration for the many evidences of peace and prosperity which make this a contented land.

The speaker took up the record of the Democratic president and Congress and lauded it as the greatest record made since the beginning of the present American government. He said in part:

"When the people of the United States are called upon to elect a president they have many things to consider. They owe it to themselves to select the man who has shown by actual accomplishments his fitness for the office. I shall therefore take up briefly the record of Woodrow Wilson, which, when we have considered it as a whole, must convince us that the people of the United States will be false to themselves and ungrateful to their posterity whose fate depends upon present Americans. If they fail to return to the White House the man who has done more for America in a short time and a half year than has ever been done before in any three or four administrations.

Eight Hour Law.

"The most recent thing which has been accomplished by the present administration is the passage of the eight hour law. This country was threatened in August with the greatest strike of history. Wilson, with his keen foresight, knew what a dire disaster this would be; he recognized the necessity for immediate action and Congress under his direction passed the eight hour law which prevented this strike. This should endear Wilson to the hearts of all working men. At that time there were millions of dollars' worth of perishable products waiting to be shipped to market. All of this would have been a dead loss. It is estimated by the secretary of the American Farm Congress that the losses would have been as follows: A loss of $50,000,000 in the price of wheat; $20,000,000 in California fruit; $100,000,000 worth of the $200,000,000 Oregon apple crop; $50,000,000 in potatoes; a $50,000,000 peach crop ready for the market. All of the larger factories would have closed because of lack of material upon which to work, throwing hundreds of thousands of men out of work; starvation would have followed in its wake.

Merchant Marine.

"When the war in Europe began our commerce was shattered; cotton dropped to 6c, wheat to 70c, other commodities proportionately. The producers faced ruin. The only thing which could save these things was shipping facilities. All marine insurance companies cancelled their insurance. Owners then refused to take shipments. Wilson came before Congress and asked for aid, which was given by an act providing for merchant marine insurance by the government. This insurance paid its own way and gave the government a $1,000,000 surplus besides. This raised cotton from 6c to 15c, wheat from 70c to $1.50, calves $10 to $35, other things proportionately. The bill providing for purchase of ships for shipping purposes aid this. These were two epoch making laws, for which the people of the United States are indebted to Wilson—for it meant billions of dollars to the farmers and producers of America.

Currency Control.

"Prior to the passage of the Federal Reserve Act, America had the most barbarous currency system in existence; the people were under the control of a grasping few and this Federal Reserve Act has as effectively emancipated the people of America from the grasping control of a few financiers, as Lincoln's proclamation emancipated every American citizen. It gave us a stable and elastic currency, placing the direction of the United States upon a sound basis and guaranteeing the United States from the awful panics through which we have periodically struggled. The history of American banking shows conclusively that prior to this the currency system allowed a few bankers to control the entire financial situation, along with the hopes and fate of the millions of American people. This law has made panics an impossibility and has given the control of money to the people through their regularly elected officials.

"The new Farm Loan Law makes it possible for the farmers of America to secure loans for their needs on long time periods at low rates of interest, emancipating them from the grasping clutches of the farm loan grabbers who have been robbing American farmers. This law will save about $65,000,000 on the present outstanding farm loan indebtedness of the United States.

Preparedness.

"While Europe has been at war we have been enjoying peace and prosperity. We are indebted to the far-sighted wisdom, the fearless policy of neutrality and to the deep desire of Wilson to save America for our present peace and plenty. Mr. Wilson has strongly advocated preparedness as the best insurance against war. When the Republicans delivered the reins of government to Wilson the United States was in a deplorable state of unpreparedness. They say America is unprepared and the Democrats are to blame. When they speak of unpreparedness, history convicts the Republican party of that crime. Wilson's policies have caused an increase of appropriations for preparedness from $117,000,000 during the last three Republican terms to $922,000,000 during the present Democratic administration; an increase of the army from less than 100,000 to 216,000 soldiers."

Other Laws.

The speaker then called attention to the income tax bringing the United States $121,000,000 yearly, the inheritance tax $28,000,000 yearly, the child labor law, the good roads law and other acts of Congress.

Support County Ticket.

Mr. Swan plead for the support of the county as well as national ticket, asserting every promise to be deserving of a full party support.

Progressives Should Support Wilson. Mr. Swan asserted that the Progressives owed their support to Wilson as he has carried into effect ninety per cent of the things they demanded in their national platform, to which they pledged their support.

Mexican Policies.

The speaker then showed that Wilson's Mexican policies were eminently right, being justified by every principle of right and by the illustrious examples of America's greatest president.

KENDALL COLLEGE DEFEATS SOONERS

Ben Owen's Injured Recruits Unable to Stop Tulsans; Score 16 to 0

Norman, Okla., Oct. 16.—(Special.)

For the first time in history a Sooner football team was defeated by another team from within the state when Henry Kendall College of Tulsa scored 16 points to 0 for Oklahoma on Boyl Field Saturday afternoon.

Although Sooners are giving Kendall credit for playing a great game, hard luck certainly figured in the Oklahoma defeat. Captain Homer Montgomery, who made all-southwestern end last year, was taken out with a broken wrist in the first quarter. Fields, on the outer end, was taken out, injured in the next quarter. Mohrford Johnson, veteran quarterback, was taken out on account of injuries in the second half. Oliver Hott, the famous tackle, was able to be in the game only a few minutes on account of an injured knee. Owen was compelled to use twenty-four men, some of them playing positions at which they had never worked in scrimmage.

The Tulsans played a great game, using open field work and much forward passing. They made their scores when Groves made a place kick from the 35-yard line in the second quarter. Jones received a pass good for the goal in the same division and Hausse went over on an end run in the last period. Groves kicked one goal after touchdown.

The Sooners will play Texas at Dallas next Saturday.

The lineup:

HUSBAND SAVED HIS WIFE

Stopped Most Terrible Suffering by Getting Her Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Denison, Texas.—"After my little girl was born two years ago I began suffering with female trouble and could hardly do my work. I was very nervous but just kept dragging on until last summer when I got where I could not do my work. I would have a chill every day and hot flashes and dizzy spells and my head would almost burst. I got where I was almost a walking skeleton and life was a burden to me until one day my husband's step-sister told me I would not last long and told him to get your medicine. So he got Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for me, and after taking the first three doses I began to improve. I continued its use, and I have never had any female trouble since. I feel that I owe my life to you and your remedies. They did for me what doctors could not do and I will always praise it wherever I go."—Mrs. C. O. LOWERY, 419 W. Monterey Street, Denison, Texas.

If you are suffering from any form of female ill, get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and commence the treatment without delay.
